A Brno and its surroundings

Brno City Museum – Špilberk Castle

Špilberk Castle was established as a royal castle in the 13th century during the reign of the Přemysl monarchy. After a successful defence against the Swedish army in 1645 it was rebuilt into a massive Baroque fortress. It served consecutively as both jail and garrison from the end of the 18th century until the nineteen-sixties when it was then declared a national heritage monument and became the seat of The Brno City Museum.

Seven permanent exhibitions and temporary displays in the castle are wheelchair-accessible. Individual floors are accessible by elevator or stairway platform, operation of both devices is provided by the staff (the lift is not usually accessible). To overcome a small number of stairs, staff will provide a wooden ramp. Assistance can be requested in the ticket office. There are three accessible toilets in the building. Visually impaired visitors can learn about selected exhibits with Braille labels in the haptic cell.

Casemates, originally a military garrison shelter, in the 18th century a prison for particularly serious criminals, south-western bastion with preserved remains of the sophisticated Baroque fortifications and lookout gallery of the corner tower are not wheelchair-accessible. It is advisable to consult us by phone prior to your visit.

HOW TO GET THERE:

The castle is surrounded by a large park that is essentially accessible though you may have to cope with some hilly terrain. The surface of the paths is made of granite block paving. Free access to the castle is only from Gorazdova Street.

It is possible to reach the castle by car (with a ZTP parking card) from Gorazdova Street after prior agreement and to park in close proximity to the side entrance to the castle, which is accessible.

Moravian Gallery in Brno – Museum of Applied Arts

The Museum of Applied Arts was founded in 1873. It is one of five buildings managed by the Moravian Gallery in Brno. In 1961 it was merged with the Moravian Museum Art Gallery and thus the Moravian Gallery in Brno was established as the only museum of arts in the Czech Republic joining collections of visual and applied art. The Museum of Applied Arts offers visitors a permanent exhibition of applied arts from the Middle Ages to the beginning of the 20th century. The Moravian Gallery organizes workshops and extra events for children and adults, teachers, seniors and people with health disabilities.

All floors of the building are accessible by elevator, the exhibitions are also accessible and without thresholds. The staircase into the lecture hall has a platform lift which is operated by an authorized person. There is one accessible toilet on the ground floor. The exhibition also includes a collection of works for the blind and visually impaired.

To make use of the parking option in front of the wheelchair-accessible entrance, it is advisable to make an appointment in advance.

HOW TO GET THERE:

The main entrance to the building includes steps. An accessible secondary entrance from the street is located between the Museum of Applied Arts and the Brno Municipality. There is a button to call the operator (the entrance is normally closed). The walkway at the entrance is paved with small stone block paving.

Parking can be arranged directly by the Museum of Applied Arts in an alley between this building and the Brno Municipality; the entrance is from Husova Street. Dedicated parking spaces are not marked here. Another possibility is in the adjacent Domini multi-storey car park, which has its entrance on Husova Street.

Moravian Museum – Dietrichstein Palace

The Moravian Museum is the second largest and oldest museum in the Czech Republic – it was founded in 1817. Currently the museum's collections include over 6 million items, including valuable scientific material from the fields of natural and social sciences.

The main exhibition building of the Moravian Museum is the Dietrichstein Palace, one of the oldest palaces in Brno. It was built in the years 1613–1616 as the Governor's residence for Cardinal František Dietrichstein.

At the turn of the 17th and 18th centuries it was rebuilt in its present baroque style. Now it houses permanent paleontological, mineralogical and archaeological exhibitions.

The ground floor is accessible, with two exhibition halls, the ticket office and a café. Other floors can be reached by staircases by means of mobile ramps or a stair climber operated by the museum staff. The higher floors are accessible via two lifts. There is one accessible toilet on the ground floor that can be reached via a mobile wooden ramp.

The prehistoric section includes exhibits which may be touched; the museum has a special programme for the visually impaired.

Since 2015, there is also the Mendelianum – 'The Amazing World of Genetics' Visitor Centre which commemorates the work of J. G. Mendel, the father of genetics, is housed here. The main entrance from the Bishop's Court is at street level. The exhibition is partially accessible; a part of the exhibition can be reached by an elevator. Accessible toilets are not available here.

In case of a larger group of people on wheelchairs visiting it is advisable to arrange the visit by phone in advance.

HOW TO GET THERE:

Two parking spaces are reserved at the bottom of Zelný trh. When accessing the building located at the top of Zelný trh, one needs to take into account the longitudinal slope of the square of up to 12 % and the transverse slope of 3 %. The surface of the square is made of granite blocks. There is a button on the front door. This calls the security guard who opens the left door of the side entrance (otherwise normally closed) to which the fixed ramp leads.

The main entrance to the building is not on a busy road, it is possible to stop directly in front of the entrance and allow people to safely get out of a vehicle.

By agreement, it is possible to park in the courtyard of the palace – entered from Václav Havel Lane. From here there is a steep path to the main entrance down Petráská Street.

Boat transport at Brno Reservoir

Shipping service started on 5 May 1946 on the route Bystrc–Kozí horka–Sokolské koupaliště–Osada–Rokle–Obora–Zouvalka–Veveří Castle and back. This route was extended to Mečkov and Veverská Bítýška in 1948–1949. During the cruise you can see the entire lake, a narrow rocky gorge, Veverí castle and a variety of water birds. Regular services use two-storey boats on which the lower deck is accessible. The tables and benches are movable so their position and number can be adjusted. The upper deck is accessible via steep stairs. There is one accessible toilet on each ship which can be entered from the left side.

The pontoons for accessing the ship are 155 cm wide and the railings are 110 cm high on both sides. Because they are floating, it is necessary to expect some amount of movement. When crossing from the pontoon to the ship, the ship staff provide rails.

Accessible stops are the following:

Přístaviště – there is also a public toilet with a modified cabin (which can be unlocked with a Eurolock). The surface is made of concrete with a 7 % slope. The public transport stop is 500 m away.

Kozí horka – parking (without reserved places) is located 150 m from the stop. The bus stop is 400 m away; the access road is reinforced and on slightly sloping terrain. There is access to the water.

U Kotvy – parking (without reserved places) along Rakovecká road is 200 m away. You can stop directly in front of the port pontoon upon prior agreement.

Rokle – parking (without reserved places) along Rakovecká road is 200 m away. The bus stop is 350 m away. There is access to the water.

Veverská Bítýška – parking (without reserved places) is 200m away along the road Za řekou. The bus stop is 750 m away.

HOW TO GET THERE:

Parking along Přístavní Street has no reserved places. The area has a transverse slope of 9 % and a longitudinal slope of 5 %. The area is sometimes reserved for fun fairs. In exceptional cases it is possible to park in an area near 'the Anchor of Hope' by the 'Přístaviště' stop.

TIP: Brno is a city of exhibitions, and the Brno Exhibition Centre, which opened in 1928, is a unique example of functionalist architecture. About 50 trade fairs take place there every year. The different types of pavilions, entrances, gates and mobile toilets are adapted depending on the size of the event. Pavilions A, B, C, E, F, P, V, Z, are completely accessible together with the Loos Hall on the ground floor of the Chateau, and the Congress Centre. It is also possible to arrange a conducted tour of selected pavilions, which can be adapted to the needs and interests of specific groups of visitors.

The public transport stop 'Výstaviště' is by the Congress Centre. Parking is possible in front of the main entrance, where three parking spaces are reserved for handicapped guests. During events, there are parking attendants who regulate the parking.

Veveří Castle

One of the largest castle complexes in the Czech Republic that developed gradually over nearly eight-hundred-years. Probably originally used as a small hunting castle or just as a farmstead of the Moravian margraves, first mention of it in historical sources is from 1213.

The castle complex is very large and rugged. There are unpaved dirt surfaces that have up to 20 % slopes. Movement around the courtyard requires physical fitness or adequate accompaniment. There is a refurbished accessible toilet in both the ladies' and men's toilets.

HOW TO GET THERE:

Veveří Castle can be reached directly by bus from Bystrc (line 303); the bus stop is located 550 m from the castle near the lower parking place. You can park below the castle and also above it, there are two gates leading to the castle grounds. From the lower car park, the path to the gate is made of rough stone at a longitudinal slope of 17 % and a transverse slope of 5 %. This steep path is 220 m long. It is also possible to park in the upper car park which has an asphalt road leading to the western gate with a 6.5 % slope.

In the boating season, the boat can be used as transport as well.

After prior arrangement by phone you may enter the castle courtyard by car.

B Moravian Karst and Slavkov area

Moravian Karst – Punkevní Caves

B1

Moravian Karst is the most famous and best developed Karst area in the Czech Republic. There are more than 1100 caves, five of them are open to the public. The temperature varies from 7 to 9 °C in all caves of the Moravian Karst.

The dry part of the cave leads through dripstone areas to the bottom of the Macocha abyss (depth 138.5 m). The route is accessible. The surface of the paths is seamless concrete or made of steel grids. The elevation differences are traversed by gangways of various gradients (of which the steepest is 22.5 %). The width limit at the narrowest part of the passage is about 60 cm (approximately in the middle of the route). The end of the accessible route is at the bottom of the Macocha abyss. If a visitor or their companion are physically capable, the tour can continue on motor boats along the Punkva underground river (access by stairs).

If a visitor cannot continue by boat they return the same way back to the start. For this reason, it is advisable to order the last tour of the day to avoid another incoming group. The entrance building to the cave includes two accessible toilets.

In Punkevní Caves there is a sound system with a commentary in 9 world languages at no extra cost. Due to high demand it is good to check the availability of tickets to the Punkva Caves in advance.

HOW TO GET THERE:

Upon prior agreement, you can drive right up to the Punkva Caves entrance building, where one parking space is reserved. From Blansko, the Krasobus seasonal tourist bus brings people to 'Skalní Mlýn' (www.krasobus.cz).

Parking is available for a fee at the Central Information Service – Skalní mlýn, which is at the end of Gellhornova Street. There are 3 parking areas without reserved parking spaces. The areas are paved and the terrain is flat. The information centre is accessible and there is also an accessible toilet. The Punkevní Caves can be reached via an asphalt road (1.8 km) or by a tourist train (www.smk.cz).

Parking is also possible at the Upper Bridge of the Macocha abyss (lookout), where 10 parking spaces are reserved on the paid parking lot. An accessible route leads from the parking lot to the viewing area. There is also an accessible information centre and an accessible toilet. A cable car leads down to the Punkva caves, the bottom station is currently not accessible (www.smk.cz).

OPENING HOURS:

January–March: Tuesday–Sunday 8:40–14:00

April–September: Monday 10:00–16:00, Tuesday–Sunday 8:20–16:00

TIP: Other caves of the Moravian Karst protected landscape area – Sloupsko-šošůvské, the largest accessible caves in the Czech Republic and Výpustek cave, which was used as an underground factory during World War II, are also largely modified to be accessible (www.cavemk.cz/informace-pro-vozickare).

Moravian Karst House of Nature

A modern visitor centre with interactive indoor and outdoor exhibitions and 3D cinema can be found at Skalní mlýn. The exhibition, which is fully accessible, tells the story of the Moravian Karst landscape from its deep geological development to its present form, which has been strongly shaped by human activity. The Nature Centre also offers interesting programmes for schools and groups. There is an accessible toilet in the building.

OPENING HOURS:

Slavkov – Austerlitz Château

Slavkov Château is one of the oldest, well-preserved manors in Moravia and it is closely linked with the battle of three emperors, which took place on 2nd December 1805. After his victory over the Russian and Austrian allied forces, Emperor Napoleon transferred his headquarters to Slavkov. However, the history of the present Baroque château stretches back to the 13th century, when a commendam of the Teutonic Order was set up here.

The castle exhibition areas are barrier-free but inaccessible. Ramps are missing on the ground floor and there is a staircase to climb to get to the floor above. It is better to choose the accessible interactive exhibition, 'Austerlitz – A Small Town with a Great History' in the renovated stables and riding halls, or enjoy the château park.

The extensive château park with several fountains and sculptural decoration by Giovanni Giuliani is accessible and open daily from 8:00 to 18:00. The paths have a sandy surface.

Austerlitz Exhibition – A Small Town with a Great History

How did it look in the midst of one of the bloodiest battles in European history? How heavy and complex is the sabre or rifle of a Russian, French, or Austrian soldier?

You can find out and experience this and more in the renovated stables and riding halls of the Slavkov (Austerlitz) Château at the exhibition 'Austerlitz – A Small Town with a Great History'.

Suitable access to the exhibition is via a side entrance from the courtyard that is opened by the staff upon request. The wooden double doors have a 5 cm high and 42 cm deep step from the outside. The rest of the 1st floor of the exhibition is accessible. There is a lift in the middle of the exhibition area which gives comfortably access to the ground floor of the exhibition. The ground floor area is accessible and a passageway leads on to the tourist information centre with an accessible toilet. The area of the tourist information centre is also accessible, the entrance to the ground level is located on the ground floor of the stables.

HOW TO GET THERE:

There are two reserved parking spaces in Fügnerova Street. The longitudinal slope of the driveway to the château is 5 % and the lateral slope is 6 %. The surface is composed of large granite block paving. The entrance to the gate has a 12 % longitudinal slope. Upon prior agreement, it is possible to park in the courtyard of the château, in the château park by the northern wing, or in front of the tourist information centre which is on the ground floor of the renovated stables.

Museum of the Brno Region – Cairn of Peace Monument

B5

The Cairn of Peace is a unique memorial that brings a message of peace. It was built to honour all victims of the memorable Battle of Austerlitz (2nd December 1805). A multimedia exhibition 'The Battle of the Three Emperors. Slavkov / Austerlitz 1805' is located in a newly renovated museum next to the Cairn of Peace.

There is a gravel road with a 5 % slope leading to the entrance of the monument. The elevation difference between the terrain and the entrance into the chapel has stairs. To overcome these staff will bring pressed metal rails.

Museum with a multimedia exhibition

B6

The attractive multimedia exposition 'The Battle of the Three Emperors. Slavkov / Austerlitz 1805' and the exhibition 'The Austerlitz Phenomenon' are unconventional in their conception and provide instruction as well as vivid impressions. You will learn not only about what happened in these places at the end of 1805, but you can experience how the Battle of Austerlitz would have looked to those who took part.

The building is entered through a double glazed door. The doorbell to call the operator is at a height of 120 cm. The exhibition is completely accessible and there is an accessible toilet in the building.

HOW TO GET THERE:

The parking lot is about 150 m away, there are no reserved parking spaces. The gravel access path has a 15 % gradient. Upon prior agreement you can park in the courtyard of the building by the staff entrance.

Pálava and Lednice-Valtice Area

Lednice Château (UNESCO)

Lednice Château's present day English Neo-Gothic appearance dates from 1843–1850. The palm greenhouse on the eastern side, built 1843–1848, is the oldest of its kind in Europe. The French garden and an extensive English park with ponds, islands and small romantic buildings create the perfect setting for the castle and greenhouse. The most famous building in the château park is the minaret, a lookout tower built in 1798–1802, which offers a view of the entire Lednice-Valtice complex.

In front of the château there is an area of large stone block paving with a 3 % slope. There are two stairs in front of the ticket office which can be surmounted by pressed metal rails provided by the staff. Only the basic Tour 1 with representative halls on the ground floor of the château is accessible. To access the remaining three tours, it is necessary to overcome the staircase but then movement upstairs is all on one level. The only toilets in the northern tract of the castle are not specially adapted. Visually impaired visitors have a chance to touch some reliefs or exhibits. The side entrance opened by the staff is accessible and leads to the palm greenhouse, which offers a tropical and subtropical oasis of blooming orchids and other exotic flowers even in winter. The surface of the perimeter path is made of cast iron grids. The central path through the greenhouse is sandy.

The extensive chateau park is without major changes of terrain. The paths are sandy, with tiles in places.

HOW TO GET THERE:

Parking is possible in the town parking zone along Trída 31. Dubna Street. The nearest parking is about 500 m from the castle. There are two reserved places. Their surface consists of small stone block paving, sometimes with a slope of up to 6 %. In exceptional cases, entry and parking can be arranged in the northern courtyard or in the Multifunctional Centre.

OPENING HOURS:

Regional Museum in Mikulov

The Regional Museum resides in the impressive Mikulov chateau, towering over the picturesque town of Mikulov on the route between Brno and Vienna. The original royal castle was home to two prominent families – the Lichtensteins and later the Dietrichsteins.

The 1st floor of the chateau is accessible and can be reached by a side entrance which is also the starting point for the tour of the chateau. In front of the door there is a 12 cm step. To overcome this staff will provide a mobile ramp.

The exhibition 'Wine Through the Centuries' is accessible. The content is also presented in Braille and is complemented by haptic locations.

There is an accessible toilet by the side entrance, but it is not adapted inside. An accessible toilet is located near the ticket office but there are 14 steps up to it. To access the toilet, staff must operate a staircase climber. The toilet is separate and freely accessible.

TIP: There is a Synagogue located on the west side below the château, the only preserved synagogue of the so-called Polish type in Moravia from the middle of the 16th century. Access to the synagogue is from Husova Street, the ground floor of the synagogue is level. There is also an accessible toilet.
